Land swap clears way for extension of Bethel Pathway deep into Mayville

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Pathway took another step forward Monday evening.

The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to sign an agreement that will allow for a half-mile extension of the existing 1.1 mile pathway.

The new section will run from the North Road, near the Norseman Inn, north through the woods and fields of Mayville.

The path will for the most part run parallel Route 2 and be set approximately 700 feet west of the road.

To clear the way for the extension, the selectmen agreed to swap a landlocked 2.8-acre parcel of tax-acquired land behind the Norseman Inn in exchange for a 15-foot wide easement along the northern boundary of a rectangular 8.8-acre parcel of land that lies behind several Mayville businesses, including the Jolly Drayman, Prodigal Inn and Rostay Inn.

The easement will end a few hundred feet behind the Good Food Store and not, for the moment, connect to Route 2.

The smaller, town parcel will be deeded to John and Dale Cheney. The Cheneys own both the Norseman Inn and the rectangular parcel through which the path easement will run.

The parcel being deeded to them connects their other two parcels.

Bethel Town Manager Scott Cole characterized the document agreed to by the selectmen Monday as "equivalent to a purchase-and-sales agreement."

The terms of the agreement, he said, "are going to be incorporated into deed instruments, probably within a few months."

Negotiations for the arrangement, which included the Bethel Area Trails Committee, are complex and have been in the works for more

New spur will run north for one-half mile, approximately 700 feet west of Route 2.

New owners plan to make riverside in Gilead more user friendly

By ALISON ALOISIO

Canoeists should find access to the Androscoggin River near the Gilead bridge easier in the future, thanks to the private purchase late last fall of a 32-acre land parcel.

Larry Stifler and Mary McFadden bought the land from a timber company to protect it, Stifler said, and they plan to work with the state to improve access for the handicapped and other recreationists with non-powered boats.

The couple, from Massachusetts, owns a vacation home in Albany.

The Androscoggin parcel runs from the bridge along the southerly shore of the river for approximately half a mile to the Wild River, and for 2 mile along the Wild River.

"There are a couple of things that are important to people," Stifler said. "There's the canoe launch site, and there's what everybody says is a world-class fishing spot, where the Wild and Androscoggin rivers join."

Steve Wight of the Mahoosuc Land Trust said MLT had tried to buy the land in 2006 but was unable to reach Maine Handicapped Skiing was the site of camaraderie, friendly banter and winter sports for 23 disabled veterans and their guests this past weekend, for the annual Veterans/No Boundaries program.

The veterans, from all over the country, including New York, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Maine, arrived Thursday evening for registration and a welcome kick-off to the weekend.

"This is the best event we have been to," said Kelly Rice, wife of Marine Veteran Aaron Rice.

Aaron said, "There is a sense of community here, everyone works together."

Aaron and Kelly traveled to Maine for the Veterans/No Boundaries program from Mississippi.

They spent four days snowboarding, dog sledding, and learning how to talk "Maine."

Aaron lost his left leg below the knee in March 2005 while deployed in Iraq, and since the injury he and Kelly both have become avid snowboarders.

Aaron will graduate in May from Mississippi State University, but plans to continue with law school.

"After I am done with school though, I would like to start an adaptive recreation program in Mississippi. It is great to have this opportunity."

Maine Handicapped Skiing established the Veterans/No Boundaries program in 2005. The program includes retreats in both the summer and winter for disabled men and women who have served our country.

"It is an easy way to say thank you to the individuals that have kept our families safe and maintained our quality of life here in the United States, almost too easy, and so much fun," said volunteer Lynne Maxfield-Cole.

This year's program started on Thursday, Jan. 31, and ran through Monday, Feb. 4. Veterans had the opportunity to participate in alpine skiing, snowboarding, snowshoeing, Nordic skiing, and dog sledding.

Seventy-plus volunteers joined the veterans. Volunteer instructors guaranteed a successful experience on snow, great food and wonderful entertainment, said Maine Handicapped Skiing Executive Director Betsy Doyon.

Newry goes coastal

By ALISON ALOISIO

Newry is occasionally described as a rich coastal community that happens to be located in the mountains.

It only seemed logical, thought resident Wendy Hanscom, that the town should have its own Coast Guard.

Or at least shirts proclaiming it.

"Most towns with as many high-value second homes as Newry are on the coast," said Hanscom.

About a year ago, she decided to come up with a Newry Coast Guard logo to print on T-shirts.

She asked a friend, Steve Milligan a graphic designer, to put something together.

"I looked at the real Coast Guard logo, which is two crossed anchors and a shield in the middle," Hanscom said. "I suggested the use of skis, maybe pine trees and a moose in the middle. Steve came up with the crossed skis and poles."

They resemble a captain's wheel, she thinks, preserving the link to the sea.

With the addition of 1805, the town's incorporation date, the design was complete.

A history of the Alder River ponds

By BLAINE MILLS, Vice President Greenwood Historical Society

Clinton and Raynor Littlefield charged 10 cents to swim at their beach when I was a boy. If you came by boat, it was free. The beach was a social gathering place for the local residents and campers. In the early 1960s, the Morey family took over the operation of the beach and soon turned the beach into a campground and outside swimmers were no longer welcome.

We know from the old photos dating back to the early 1900s that the sand bar on South Pond was used by boaters for swimming. The swimming hole at Round Pond was just off the Greenwood Road. This small beach had been used by the local children since the 1930s. In 1953, John Tebbets built a house at this location and the swimming hole was gone for good.

The last three swimming areas came later: Abbott's Anchorage, the beach on lower South Pond, and the town beach.

What is now Abbott's Anchorage was nearly all under water when I was a boy. Around 1950 Lee Abbott started dumping sand into the pond and over a period of several years he built up a beach from the water. By the mid-1950s, Abbott's was open to the public. If I recall it cost 25 cents to swim there when I was a boy.

There was a small beach just off the Greenwood Road near the Joe Cumming's place. This beach was not a good location. The swimmers were

DORIS C. VALENTINE

Doris Curran Valentine passed away Jan. 22, 2008 at the age of 88 at Ledgeview Living Center, West Paris, after a long battle with Alzheimer's.

Born Doris Cottrell Curran July 14, 1919, she was the daughter of John L. and Grace Curran of North Providence, R.I. She attended local grade schools and the difficult Classical High School, where her life's love of good books was born.

At the age of 18, she married William B. Dean of Providence, bearing their three children: Grace (Sandy), Bruce and Constance. Being a wonderful mother, she taught them her love of books and animals as they grew up on a farm with horses, sheep, geese, dogs and cats, which were in their care.

From her first visit to the White Mountains at age 12, Doris was awed and challenged, telling her mother on the trip home that she would climb them all someday. This she did, earning The Appalachian Mountain Club's coveted "4,000 Footer" Award twice in her subsequent years while climbing with her children, her cousin Marjorie, Nancy Freeman, and others.

To facilitate her time in the mountains she had a small cabin built near Jackson, N.H. The cabin became in some ways a refuge, as her long-troubled marriage ended with divorce.

In the spring of 1969, Doris began skiing at Sunday River Skiway. When there was a need, she helped the Ski Patrol "sweep" the trails at day's end. Learning of her training in caring for diabetics at the Joslin Clinic in Boston, she was invited to join the patrol. Earning her Red Cross and National Ski Patrol Certification through the summer, she began her 12 years' service with the Sunday River patrol that fall. Her assigned partner was Richard Valentine. Seven years later Doris and Richard were married. It was a marriage made in heaven.

But there was one sticking point. Richard's job took him all over the U.S. and on occasion to Europe for weeks at a time. This was solved early in their time together when in a rare call from work he asked, "How would you like a trip to Torino, Italy?" From then on Doris was rarely home alone for long. For a girl who had only once ventured beyond New England, this was a whole new world.

With Richard retiring in April 1987, Doris helped design their home on the old Spring Grove Farm in Bethel, moving in by July 1988. She lived happily there with her husband until October 2003 when Alzheimer's and a broken hip required nursing care at Ledgeview.

Doris is survived by her husband, Richard; her daughters, Grace Dellefemine and Constance Dean of Jackson, N.H.; her grandchildren, Brenda Balfour of Cranston, R.I., Ronald Bussiere of Mt. Dora, Fla., Kevin Dellefemine of Providence, R.I. and Jason Clemons of Biddeford; by her cousin, Marjorie Doan of Jefferson, N.H., and three great-grandchildren. Doris was sadly predeceased by her son, W. Bruce Dean, Jr. in 1978.

At her request, no public funeral or celebration of her life will be held.

MELODY BONNEMA FUND

To the Editor:

Melody Bonnema is still in very serious condition after her car accident. Garret and Leah have been at her side constantly over the last few weeks and Garret has been e-mailing daily a report on Melody's condition. I have a growing e-mail list of folks to whom I have been forwarding these e-mails and I would be happy to add more names (pwight@megalink.net).

We continue to hold Melody and her family in our prayers and love. We know there is a long road ahead for them and they will be in need of our continued support. A fund has been established at Northeast Bank.

This is one tangible way we can help in this difficult time. If you would like to contribute you can stop at the bank or send your checks to: Melody Bonnema Fund, c/o Northeast Bank, PO Box 850, Bethel ME 04217

W.E.S. FIFTH GRADE THANKS

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the surrounding communities for all the support they have given the Woodstock Elementary School Fifth Grade.

Our class has been working hard to raise money for an overnight trip to Boston as part of our science and social studies curriculum. Since October, we have been working on the organization of our Basket Bingo, which was held on Jan. 27. Everyone we asked to help us out has been extremely generous; the turnout for our Bingo was supportive and donations have been overwhelming. As a result, we have now raised enough money for our Boston trip.

It would be impossible to list everyone who has helped us over the past few months, but a special public thanks needs to be given to the dedicated parents and staff members of the Woodstock School who were the heart of it all. They spent hours upon hours putting together all the pieces to make the event work and our class is truly thankful for all their help. I would also like to thank all the previous parent volunteers who came through to support our Bingo in many ways. Many Woodstock and Greenwood residents, who no longer have students at our school, made donations and baked items to sell to raise money for our class.

Elizabeth Gallagher deserves special thanks this year for many reasons. For years she has been the unsung hero of our Basket Bingo. Being a Longaberger Basket consultant, Elizabeth has worked to get our fundraiser great deals on baskets, and she has donated her commission to the event. This year, acting as a parent in the class as well, Elizabeth was really able to put together an excellent collection of baskets and Longaberger merchandise. In addition, her personal donations this year were tremendous.

Finally, it is important for us to recognize the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills for their generosity. The Legion made sure we had the appropriate facilities, a great Bingo caller, wonderful help, and all the small details to make the event run smoothly. The Legion really helps us get it all together.

It is wonderful to be part of such a dedicated and caring community. Thanks again to everyone who made our fundraising a success. We will look forward to seeing all of you again next year at our annual Basket Bingo in January. Thank you again for your support.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ON LINE

To the Editor:

In recent years there has been confusion between Christian Science and Scientology. In the Bethel area and in Norway/South Paris where the nearest Christian Science Church and Reading Room are located, I run into people who think they are the same thing — which they are absolutely not. Also, people just don't know much about Christian Science and may be seeking a spiritual way of dealing with daily problems.

I am excited to share a newly launched website where people can get accurate information about Christian Science, www.christianscience.com. At the heart of this new website is a collection of video clips in which people share their personal experiences in Christian Science. The public can hear firsthand accounts of people who are living Christian Science and how their prayers have healed them and others.

What does it mean to rely on Christian Science prayer for healing? Now people who rely on the Web for information have a place where they can hear about Christian Science healing directly from those who have experienced it. (However, I am always happy to talk with people right here in Bethel.)

Christianscience.com makes it easy for the public to get accurate information about Christian Science and activities of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Mass. The church expects this will clear up some of the common misconceptions about Christian Science. The site will explain why Christian Scientists choose to rely on prayer for healing. Christian Science is not Scientology, and Christian Science is a Christian, Bible-based religion, not a cult.

I hope my community will check out this new website and feel free to ask me any questions. My cell phone is (207) 890-9944.

REMEMBERING DON TWITCHELL AND DORIS BROWN

To the Editor:

The recent passing of former state Sen. Don Twitchell brings to mind his good work on behalf of the historical societies and museums of Maine in the early 1980s. In 1974, when I became the executive director of the Bethel Historical Society, I was distressed to learn that even though museums and historical societies were largely nonprofit, tax-exempt organizations, their tax-exempt status did not include relief from the Maine state sales tax for purchases. A little research into this situation revealed that Maine was the only New England state that had not removed this burden from these cultural agencies. In fact, Maine was only one of two states not to provide this exemption. So I spent the next few years working with our Oxford County legislators of both political parties to gain repeal. Our arguments included the fact that museums and historical societies play a central role in attracting tourists to Maine and that these organizations sell historical items thus assisting the state by generating sales tax revenue. Therefore, by encouraging their existence and growth, the state was gaining additional sources of sales tax revenue. Our arguments must have been convincing since session after session the exemption won approval only to have the legislation die on the table of the Appropriations Committee. In late 1982, following his election to the state Senate, I approached Don Twitchell to request that he sponsor still another bill to exempt the sales tax for museums and historical societies. With his quiet, low-key approach, Don worked tirelessly and effectively with other sympathetic legislators to advance this piece of legislation through both houses of the state Legislature. This bill also received the backing of then Governor Brennan. Don also worked closely with the Appropriations Committee. As a result of his efforts and those of others, the legislation passed and on Jan. 1, 1984, the exemption took effect. All historical societies and museums should be forever grateful to Don Twitchell for his significant legacy of support that benefits these entities to this day.

The Bethel Historical Society has lost one of its longest and strongest supporters in the recent death this week of Doris Brown. To provide some idea how long Doris was a member is to note that she was one of the last surviving examples of a rare group — that is having her 1966 membership file card in the distinctive handwriting of Eva M. Bean, the society's founder. During her years working in the then Bethel Savings Bank, she always asked me how the society was doing each time she waited on me. She was a friend of Faye Taylor, who also worked at that bank and was a charter member as well as the society's first treasurer. Every time I saw Doris after her retirement, she mentioned how much she enjoyed the society's quarterly, The Courier. When blindness overtook her, she was so grateful that we had readers place our publication on tape so that she could still keep up with it. For years, she paid the dues of her children and their spouses so that they would also be aware of the society's events and research activities. We will certainly miss her great enthusiasm for the organization and not forget her example of dedication any time soon.

CORRECTION: ONE-YEAR MED-CARE CONTRACT WOULD ALLOW FOR FURTHER RESEARCH—An article in last week's Citizen about Andover's discussion regarding the renewal of the town's interlocal agreement with Med-Care Ambulance should have reported that Kevin Scott said that in order to be in a position to negotiate a one-year contract with the ambulance service, Andover would first need to vote down the 10-year renewal for the interlocal agreement. Scott said he favored negotiating a one-year contract so that the town would have time to study other options for service.

FURTHER INFORMATION: DISCUSSION WAS ABOUT NON-APPEALS-BOARD MATTER—Regarding last week's article on the Oxford Superior Court's decision in the Funky Red Barn appeal, and the ruling justice's comments on the actions of Appeal Board Chairman Harry Faulkner: Faulkner has asked that we provide our readers with some further information. We are happy to do so.

Concerning the Bethel selectmen's initial vote in 1996 not to reappoint Faulkner to a new term on the Appeals Board: Faulkner told us that vote was a result of his speaking out on the firing of former Bethel Town Clerk Merton Brown, a matter that some thought might eventually find its way to the Appeals Board. But before speaking out, Faulkner said, he had been told by the then chairman of the Board of Selectmen that the firing was not subject to Appeal Board review, and thus he was well within his rights as an individual citizen in making his feelings known. When two of the four selectmen who initially voted against him later learned he had consulted with the selectboard chairman and been told the firing was not an Appeals Board matter, Faulkner said, they switched their earlier votes, and he was reappointed.

Also, concerning his 2007 comments to the Appeals Board during the Funky Red Barn appeal, made after he had recused himself: Faulkner said his words were intended as a private conversation with an individual member, and he did not realize the board was still in session and a voice recorder was running. He said, however, that he too now regrets the language used in those comments.

CORRECTION: LETTER WAS FROM 2002—Due to a combination of three factors last week: the wonders of archival computer memory, a glitch in The Citizen's workflow, and a spasm of boneheaded obliviousness on the part of the editor, a letter Faulkner had written in 2002 was inadvertently published again in our "Letters" section. Faulkner graciously said that no harm had been done, and there was no need for the newspaper to make note of the error, but in the interest of correcting the record, we must.

agreement with the owner. "By stepping in as conservation buyers, the Stiflers have given all residents and visitors in the area a most wonderful gift," he said.

"It's just so beautiful," said Stifler. "We thought, 'somebody is going to buy it to develop it.' We bought it to preserve it, to keep it in its current state."

Eventually, he said, the couple plan to give MLT a conservation easement for the property.

The next step, said Stifler, will be to provide better access.

"We want to upgrade the canoe access and the parking for fishing," he said.

The steepness of the site makes it difficult for some boaters to get into their craft, he said.

The site will be available for use by private individuals, said Stifler.

Currently, he said, it is also used by recreation companies who guide tourists along the river.

"We think that's fine, as long as it's open to everyone," he said.

Stifler said he hopes Gilead residents "will support having it stay the way it is, and see it as a good resource."

The property will also remain open to snowmobilers, "as long as people respect it," he said.

A year ago, Gilead voters authorized town officials to negotiate with the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife to buy town land on the other side of Bridge Street to create a boat launch there.

But with the Stifler purchase and the plan to preserve it, the state is no longer pursuing that purchase.

Black Mt. seeks turnpike sign

AUGUSTA—Rep. Sheryl Briggs, D-Mexico, has submitted a bill to put up a sign for Black Mountain Ski Area on the Maine Turnpike. The Legislature assigned the proposal to the Transportation Committee Thursday. Briggs submitted the after-deadline bill to place a sign on the Maine Turnpike in order to further publicize the area. Black Mountain of Maine is located in Rumford and offers a wide range of programs for skiers of all ages. The mountain also boasts trails for skiing of all skill levels. They offer Nordic and Alpine skiing, tubing and snowshoeing. "We have this great, affordable recreational area that a lot of people coming up to Maine don't know about," said Briggs. "If we can make it a little better known and a little more visible, it may increase traffic." Upon Senate approval of the committee assignment, the bill will be scheduled for a public hearing in the coming weeks.

BPL reservations open Friday

AUGUSTA—Campers were waiting at the door and at their computer keyboards when the Bureau of Parks & Lands opened its 2008 camping reservations system Friday morning. "Campers make up a significant portion of our total visitors," said Department of Conservation Commissioner Patrick K. McGowan. "We are constantly working to improve the experience, both in reservations and at the park campgrounds." "The first day of the season is always our busiest," said Will Harris BPL director, "but today surpassed anything we have ever seen." 2008 marks the second year of operation for the Bureau's real-time computerized reservation system. By 2 p.m. more than 2,020 reservation requests had been processed, 59 percent of those from Maine residents. "Last year, we processed 1,812 reservations in the first twenty-four hours," said Harris. "We know that getting the sites they want is important to our customers. We're thrilled that this system is working so well. At some of our parks, competition is fierce for preferred sites during certain weeks. While this may lead to frustration for some folks, we feel this system is the fairest way to handle reservations." Using the Internet, campers who are not able to reserve their top choice of sites can immediately review BPL's campsite inventory and reserve another. Campers may make reservations online at www.CampWithMe.com; call (in state) (800) 332-1501 (out-of-state) 207-624-9950; or mail reservations to: Bureau of Parks and Lands, ATTN: Reservations, 22 SHS, Augusta, ME 04333. Those with Web access are encouraged to use it, as Internet reservations will save campers time. Sebago Lake State Park continues to top the lists for reservations. Camping at Sebago Lake is an annual family/friends tradition for the majority of users. Recognizing that the Sebago campers average longer stays than those at other state park campgrounds, during the month of February, BPL will only accept reservations for four or more nights at Sebago. Beginning March 1 two-night reservations will be accepted. This policy will allow more campers who want four or more nights on the same campsite to make such a reservation.

Pathway

than two years. But if getting even this far was a hard slog, Selectman Dennis Doyon said, it was still worth the effort.

"At this point I think everybody is in agreement that we've hammered out an agreement that's good for all parties, and that's great," Doyon said.

"That's the way it should be, and if it took a little bit longer, then it took a little bit longer, but at least it's nothing we're going to go back on and say, 'Why didn't we do this?'"

"Overall I think it's a great compromise and we ought to sign it and let everybody move on," Doyon said.

"Hardest work is over" Before any sort of path can be opened to the public, the route must be blazed and signed, but Cole said Tuesday he was optimistic that snowmobilers could be able to use the path long before the end of winter.

And the Trails Committee is expected to immediately begin work on grants and permitting for the eventual construction of a multi-use trail.

Local attorney Kirk Siegel, a committee member, said Monday his group was committed to the project.

Cole credited the committee for providing the vision for the new trail, and for doing much of the legwork that made the eventual agreement possible.

'The Trails Committee likes to get their teeth into things, so I can't believe it's not going to happen quickly.'

SCOTT COLE
Bethel Town Manager

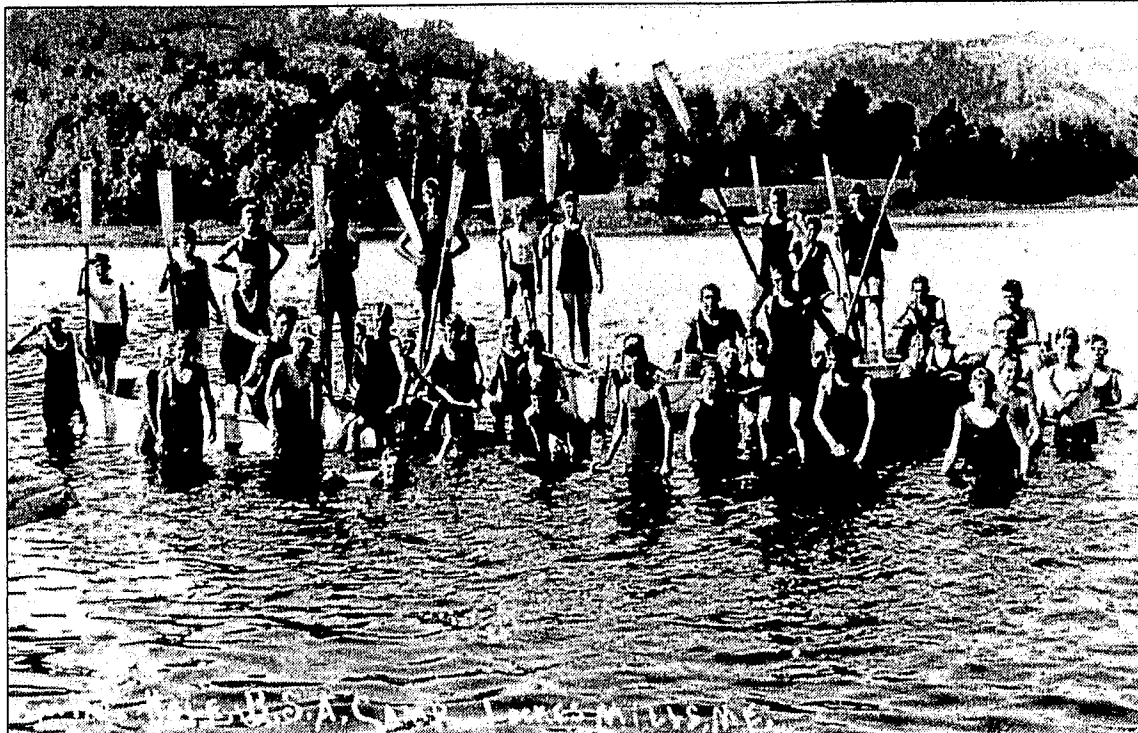

day's selectmen's meeting, wrote:

"Scott Cole, the Cheneys, the selectmen, Jeff Parsons and the Trails Committee, abutting landowners, and everyone else who supported or worked on this project deserve great kudos. Nothing has been signed yet, but it would appear that the hardest work is over."

Down the road, many other considerations regarding the new trail will be addressed, including how it might connect to other Mayville properties along its route, or to Route 2, or even to a possible future trail extension toward Sunday River Ski Resort.

Ponds

BOY SCOUTS at a B.S.A. camp that was operated on North Pond in the 1920s.

in the water or in the road. This beach was used primarily by local children or young adults.

After the town beach was established, this small beach was no longer used. In 1988, the town of Greenwood purchased the beach at the Cumming's Brook Delta and it is still in use today.

The pond water levels had not been an issue since the Lee Abbott affair in the mid 1960s. Around 1996, the gate was opened at the dam in early April and left open until after Memorial Day.

That summer, our water table dropped down with the ponds; my father and I both lost our wells. I had to add onto my dock just to float my boat.

The following two years the water level was also drawn down, but after three years of being confronted by angry campers, Duane Gilbert stopped the practice of opening the gate for two months.

By this time the gate was leaking badly, and Gilbert did not have the funds or the interest to fix it.

Campers banded together and got permission from Gilbert to place a tarp over the leaky gate. For the next several years, the campers put a new tarp every spring over the gate. The three years when the gate was opened for two months each year, the water levels were the lowest that I had seen in my lifetime. The several years that followed were better, but the levels were lower than normal.

Around 2000, Mr. Gilbert or the bank sold the mill property to Saunders Bros. from Westbrook, Maine. Saunders Bros. did not want the responsibility of the dam.

In 2001, the town of Greenwood took over the ownership and operation of the dam. In 2004, the dam was refaced and a new gate was installed. The town of Woodstock helped to fund the project.

In 2007, the owner of Littlefield's Beach, Mr. Park, asked the town to lower the water level. The residents and campers assumed this water level issue had been settled over 40 years ago with the Lee Abbott affair, but the town decided to drag us through it all over again with a public hearing in August 2007.

It was clear the night of the hearing that the majority of the shore owners still want the water level higher as in the old campers' agreement nearly a hundred years ago. The engineer who recently repaired the dam, Mr. Sysko, warned the attendees that the dam was not safe for any higher water levels. He also warned that this area could receive a catastrophic flood every one hundred or every five hundred years.

There have been at least three dams at Locke's Mills dating back to 1819. The current dam was built in 1899. No dams have ever breached here. The current dam and dikes have sprung leaks from time to time, but have been quickly repaired.

The village survived the 1936 flood and the dam was not in good repair as it is today. In 1936, both the Alder River Dam and Putt Brook Dam held. There was so much water going over the Putt Brook Dam that it washed out the railroad culvert and roadbed on the lower end of Putt Brook.

The Lakes Association has agreed to form a dam committee to work with the town in setting a water-level policy.

The three ponds are accessible via five boat ramps. Two dirt ramps are public. One is located just off Route 26 on North Pond and the other is located just off the Greenwood Road near the town beach. Both could be dangerous because they are too close to ongoing traffic. Littlefield's Beach and Abbott's Anchorage both have a private dirt ramp. The only paved ramp is a poor one maintained by the town. It is located on Alder River near the causeway.

When the state built the causeway in the early 1980s, they filled in the Mt. Abram Fish and Game Club's boat ramp. The club confronted the state about this matter. The state had not budgeted for a ramp and was not happy about having to replace it. I think this may be part of the reason why the current ramp is too steep, too short, and has no dock.

Many years ago, George Tirrell operated a marina on Alder River where he sold boats and Evinrude Outboards. I have been told that George had a small ramp at his marina although no trace of it exists today.

I hope this rambling history of the Alder River Ponds has been of some interest to our local readers and campers. Maybe it will rekindle some fond memories of our older readers.

For more information, visit the Greenwood Historical Society on Main Street, Locke's Mills.

The society has a large photo collection including many of the ponds. The society is open to the public every Saturday in July and August, 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The monthly meetings are held the first Wednesday of every month at 7 p.m.

Correction:

Sentences omitted In The Citizen's Jan. 24 installment of Blaine Mills' account of the history of the Alder River Ponds the two sentences below beginning with "In 1863," were inadvertently omitted. The paragraph in question should have read as follows:

"In 1857, Mr. Locke sold his holdings to Moses Houghton and moved to West Paris. The Russell Bros. continued to lease the factory building from Mr. Houghton until around 1860 when they moved their operation downstream to Walker's Mills. In 1863, Mr. Houghton sold out to J.R. Bassett. Mr. Bassett had big plans for Locke's Mills. He improved the waterpower (higher dam) and planned to manufacture excelsior. The excelsior machinery proved worthless and the business failed."

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Being preoccupied with the holidays just past I didn't have much to say about all the snowstorms of December. However, I was not very happy about them and don't remember ever having that much snow before Christmas.

I was even pretty quiet throughout January when more snow and cold and crappy weather happened all too frequently. My mood wasn't the greatest, but I suffered in silence.

Now we are barely into February and have already experienced snow, sleet, freezing rain, rain and more snow. I am silent no more! I hate it, I hate it, and I hate it! And, the worse part is, short of moving to a warm climate, there is not a darn thing I can do about it.

I'm not likely to move; I've been a Mainer all my life and it's where I plan to stay, but that doesn't mean I can't complain about Maine winters, especially this one.

I saw a bumper sticker once that said "If you can't stand winter in Maine, you don't deserve summer in Maine." Personally, I think that's a crock. It should be "If you can survive winter in Maine you definitely do deserve summer in Maine."

There are a couple of months to go before I can officially say I survived this winter in Maine, but I suspect that in spite of my misery I will.

I try to cling to that thought as I shovel my walkway yet again. I try to think of blue skies, sunny days and balmy temperatures as I put a heating pad on my back to ease the aches and pains from all that shoveling. I try to think of cookouts and baseball games as I put ointment on my blistered palms for all that darn shoveling.

What I'm really suffering from is Summer Deprivation Disorder ...

I try to think about spring flowers and summer rainbows as I white-knuckle drive myself to work in the winter mess.

When I clean the snow off my van and it blows back in my face and down my neck I try to remind myself that I am not being pestered by black flies or mosquitoes.

I try to think about sunburns that I have suffered in summers past and remind myself that I'm not apt to get one while I'm trying to get the darn ice off of my darn windshield wipers.

My mantra for this winter is to think positive. I think I positively hate winter. I positively hate snow, cold, sleet and freezing rain.

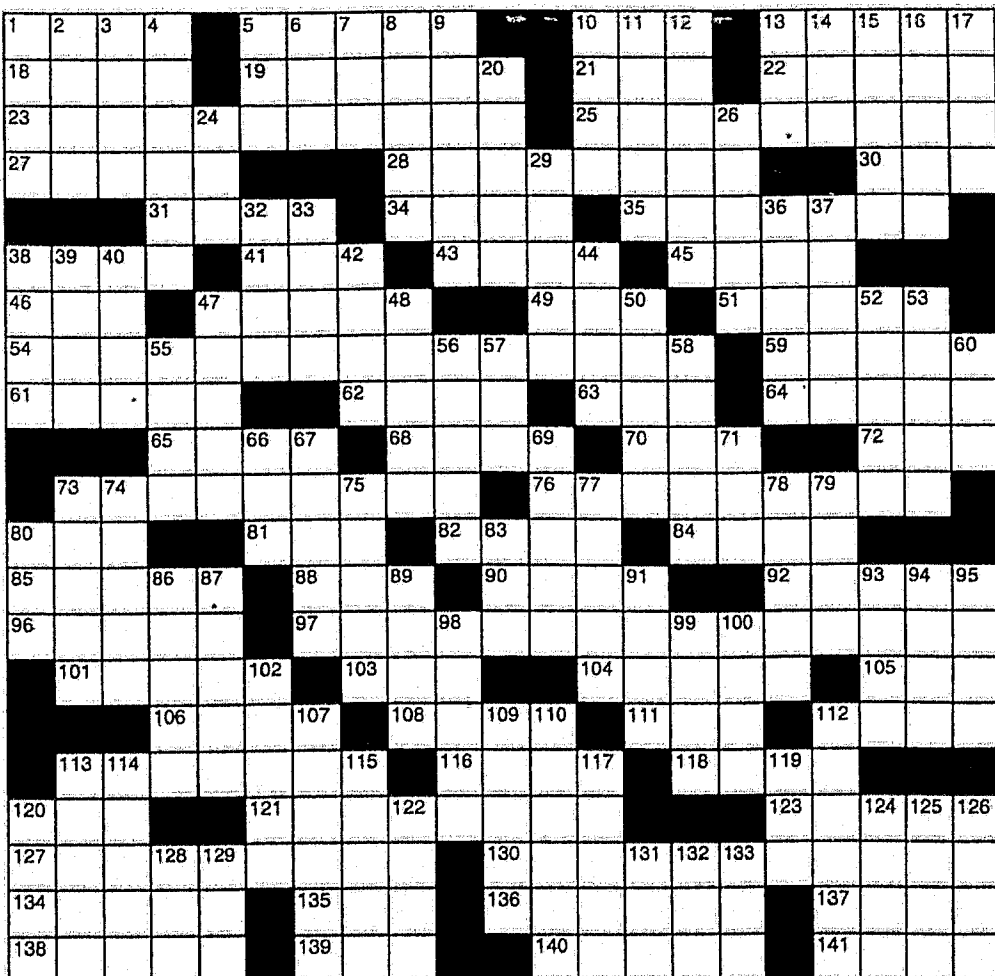

I am positive that if I didn't have to work I wouldn't go outside until April. I'd stock up on supplies in the fall and never venture outside my door after the first snowflake hits the ground. I'm also positive that will never happen.

I suppose I should have taken up skiing or snowmobiling in my younger days. I'm sure I would have a more positive attitude toward winter and outdoor activities. But I didn't and I'm not about to start such outdoor activities now. Even on the bunny slope I would probably fall and break a bone and then how in heck would I be able to shovel all that darn snow?

I know this sounds a little like cabin fever, but I would actually be quite happy to stay in the cabin until spring. What I'm really suffering from is Summer Deprivation Disorder, which will start clearing up sometime in May and be completely gone by June.

In the meantime I will just have to try and keep a positive attitude and that shouldn't be too hard because the way I see it I positively hate winter... darn it.

com and some town employees ordered a few logoed items as Christmas presents. She and her daughter, Kelsie, got sweat-shirts.

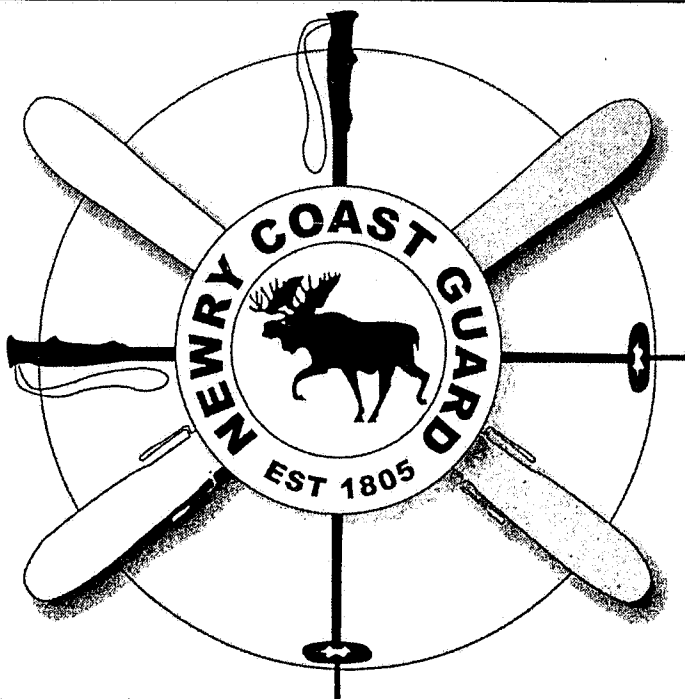

Kelsie wore hers to the Matterhorn, where some people from Outward Bound saw it. They ordered hoodies for their staff, said Hanscom.

"You may have to be from Newry to appreciate it," she said.

GUARDING THE BEAR AND SUNDAY RIVERS

Because Newry's large number of vacation homes reminds some of coastal communities, Wendy Hanscom decided the town should have its own Coast Guard logo.

With help from a graphic designer, she came up with this design and has reproduced it on T-shirts and sweatshirts.

Bethel

Mayville, Bethel and Around Town

By Donald G. Bennett

This Week's News: Bethel Republicans caucused Saturday where among other activities they held a presidential preference survey as part of the Republican statewide survey. Bethel's innkeepers and restaurateurs were ready for Sunday night's Super Bowl game, but their customers were probably not ready for the outcome. The Bethel selectmen have agreed to property exchanges in Mayville that will set favorable conditions for recreation and economic improvements in Mayville's hospitality belt. Melody Bonnemera is hospitalized in very critical condition following an automobile accident in Pennsylvania. Tom White has completed step one of a new sculpture destined for a memorial park in the west. The snow woman rests on Lincoln Street.

Superbowl Sunday — The Shock

An hour and a quarter before game time Sunday, Kathy and I had checked on three of Bethel's virtual football fields created for the fans of the Big Game. Everything was ready for the long-awaited evening when the Patriots were sure to win. The Funky Red Barn, The Bethel Inn and Rooster's Roadhouse were all set for the kickoff. Staffs were calm and prepared. Rooster's and Bethel Inn had large-screen projection TVs. At Bethel Inn, a group had reserved Millbrook Terrace where the big screen was set up. A half dozen TVs in the tavern broadcast to those not in front of the big screen. Rooster's had their game set up in the upstairs dining room, again with a large-screen projection TV. Funky's expected their regulars to be on hand for the fun. Food and snacks were all ready. At the Funky Red Barn, Barry had served one good-sized crowd on Friday night with a special dinner for Maine Handicapped Skiers. So Bethel was prepared for the game, but the watchers were undoubtedly unprepared for the final score.

Bethel Republican Caucus

Thirty-one attended the Republican Caucus at the Bethel Town Office on Saturday, Feb. 2. Twenty-nine voted in a presidential preference survey. Results of the survey were: Romney-14; McCain-9; Huckabee-1; Paul-1; Undecided-4.

The caucus agenda for the meeting was one distributed to town committees by the Maine Republican Party. Purpose of the caucus was to reconstitute a municipal committee, elect delegates to the Maine State Republican Convention scheduled May 2 and 3, elect county and town committee members and conduct other business that may come before the caucus. Karen Brown Mohr was elected chair and Stan Howe elected secretary of the caucus.

Nine delegates and two alternates were elected for the state convention. They are: Jarrod Crockett, chair, Harry Faulkner, Becky Kendall, Betty Ann Hastings, Arlan Jodrey, Scott Cole, Karen Brown Mohr, Dotty Bartlett and Stan Howe. Ellie Jodrey and Paige Pittman will be alternates.

Petitions for the following candidates were available for signatures: Jarrod Crockett for Representative to the Legislature; Susan Collins for U.S. Senator; Steven Merrill for County Commissioner; Tom Windsor for Register of Probate; Dana Hanley for Judge of Probate.

Arlan Jodrey was elected chair of the Bethel Town Committee and Sarah Tucker, vice chair.

Selectmen's meeting on
Jan. 28

Fifteen members of Bethel's public attended the selectmen's meeting on Jan. 28 where snow removal and property exchanges were to be considered. Fred Nolte of the Chapman Inn spoke of the impact early morning noise would have on his inn guests. Some discussion followed and the snow-clearing schedule was established as start after midnight Monday through Friday but on Saturday and Sunday start no earlier than 5 a.m.

Swapping town-owned property in Mayville with the Cheney's was a proposal that has had a life of more than 18 months. The town owned a parcel that formerly belonged to the Godwins. The Cheney's owned a parcel in the rear of the Thralls, the Whites, the Timberlakes and the Fredericks. An exchange of property would allow to put in motion plans for pedestrian and snowmobile trails in an area that would enhance the area for local and out-of-town visitors use plus benefit the innkeepers along Route 2.

It seemed for a few minutes that discussion followed a déjà vu all over again course. But the session ended with the board voting to exchange deeds and to turn the trail planning over to the Bethel Trails Committee. There will most likely be some follow-up with two party agreements and the immediate job is to agree on snowmobile routes through this area for the rest of this winter. In the end, it is expected that Bethel's walkers can start at Davis Park and walk to Twitchell Brook behind the Good Food Store. All property owners involved in the plan were present as well as Kirk Siegel who came as a legal advisor and trails committee representative.

Scott Davis who is the Sudbury Inn's new owner, attended the meeting to be present while licenses for his business were open for public comment, of which there were none, and to get a feel for how these meetings went.

Melody Bonnemera

Melody's wide circle of friends in Bethel have organized an e-mail network to keep up with developments in her fight for recovery. Garret is sending reports from her hospital to contacts here who in turn are very helpfully forwarding them to the community. Peggy Wight and others arrived at the idea of a Love Bowl service for Melody at the Congregational Church last Sunday. According to Garret's messages as of Saturday, she is not regressing but her condition is still very critical.

Mayville News

Tom White has finished the first small (about 40 inches high) statue of an American soldier in Vietnam for a memorial planned by Big Piney, Wyo., residents. The final stage will be a bronze statue eight feet high. Tom will have his original work scanned by a computer that works like you were having an MRI turn you into virtual slices. The slices are enlarged to the right size to make an eight-foot character. The virtual "slices" go from a computer to a special saw that turns your digital slices into plywood slices. These plywood slices are reassembled into an eight-foot statue of wood and sent back to Tom's studio.

Tom re-sculpts details like veins in the man's arm and wrinkles in his clothes in clay which covers the whole body. Then the casting people will take over and turn the soldier into a bronze statue similar to last year's Korean War soldier.

en's base site. After two days of snowmaking, the weather change has called a halt to more manmade snow. Friday's storm left from two to five inches around town. If Plan B is called for, one suggestion heard on the street is to create a snow-based Mt. Rushmore sculpture memorial.

West Bethel

Lorrie Hoeh

Five inches of "winter mix" accumulated in our yard on Friday, with the result that we had some heavy, crusted stuff to remove. I much prefer the lighter, fluffier snow, but that would require colder temperatures than we've been having. Looks as if this week will have brought more warm temperatures and liquid precipitation, somewhat messing up the skiing. Just when I was getting into a good rhythm of skiing two or three days a week.

The first batch of logging in the National Forest's timber sale has been completed, with the last logging truck departing last week. Reggie Gilbert told me, however, that a second group will be in shortly, and logging will continue for the rest of the winter. They are doing a good job, but it does cut into my morning walks down that way. One has to be on constant alert for those big trucks and get out of the way fast. So more often than not, Jake and I walk the other way, where we have to put up with a lot of auto traffic. Such is life.

On Sunday we spotted a flock of pine siskins at the feeders. Mike says they've been here earlier, but I must have missed them. The turkeys come and go, sometimes absenting themselves for a day or two, but always returning. I'm hearing more bird sounds in the woods, a sure sign that we have turned the corner on winter. That, in spite of a sunny Groundhog Day, when the local groundhog surely saw his shadow.

An e-mail from David and Deborah Doyle of Bethel announced the Jan. 2 opening of Ingleside Classical Childcare Center in the building which formerly housed the Rebel Restaurant. The Ingleside Preschool program uses a Waldorf-inspired Classical curriculum for 3-5-year-olds. The Doyles express sincere thanks for the support given them by Michael and Nina Wheeler, and David and Fran Head of Maine Street Realty, without which they could not have accomplished their project.

They also thank Deb Webster of The Bear River Trading Post, who is their educational consultant and helped design their program. In addition Gloria Lewis and Lauretta Varo were both friends and space designers prior to the opening, helping also in numerous small ways.

The Doyles went on to say, "We are encouraged by the families who have joined in our efforts by enrolling their children in our program. Our preschool and our learning childcare center (infants and up) are already growing. Our family is delighted to be a part of the West Bethel community. Families in the Greater Bethel area are welcome to inquire about year-round childcare and preschool by calling 824-2551. We also hope to become a part of the community in many ways including using our beautiful and big parking lot for community events! Call us with ideas!"

Gail Martin wrote to remind me that her family will be up to their Flat Road camp during February vacation week. They will be having a sliding party to celebrate some family birthdays. Let's hope the rain doesn't wash out all this beautiful snow before then.

Linda Westleigh filled me in on great-granddaughter Maddie's progress. Maddie has been on and off the respirator, but she is still gaining and proving herself to be one feisty little girl. Mom Annie Pivin Costello has moved into the Ronald McDonald House, easy walking distance from the hospital. Linda thanks you for your prayers, and hopes they will continue, for they are much appreciated.

NEW POSTMASTER IN NEWRY—Angela Morin was installed last week as the new postmaster in Newry, succeeding Crystal Lake. Morin began her postal career 10 years ago as a city carrier in South Paris and Norway. She later served as a clerk in the Bethel, Greenwood, Bryant Pond, Norway, Dixfield South Paris and West Paris post offices. In Greenwood and West Paris she also served as officer in charge. As Newry postmaster, she is responsible for handling the mail for 109 post office box holders and 208 rural deliveries, and overseeing one other employee. Pictured here following the installation are (from left): Leslie Aron (outgoing postmaster relief), Crystal Lake, Morin and Christy Preschilli (incoming postmaster relief).

Last Wednesday, Jan. 30, marked the passing of Doris Brown, 98, at her home in West Bethel. Doris was a member of the West Bethel Union Church and its Chapel Aid, the Bethel Historical Society, and Oxford County Senior Citizens. She will certainly be missed in this community. Our sincere condolences go out to her three daughters and six grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, friends and neighbors.

Mike and I tootled over to Farmington on Sunday afternoon to attend a concert by the Mount Blue Voices, a select jazz ensemble from Mount Blue High School, directed by Dennis Hayes. We took along our granddaughter, Molly Siegel, and her friend, Abby Goldberg, and we all thoroughly enjoyed the Super-Bowl-themed program. The 16 Voices came out in Patriots t-shirts and were called out of their huddle by name and height. Half-time entertainment was by the On and Off Sisters, two of which were our granddaughters, Elisabeth and Louisa they headed into the woods toward Don and Sylvia Gray's area. They were back again on Friday evening heading in the same direction and again Saturday morning returning from the Gray's. This time there were a dozen of them. They headed down the drive, but I'm not sure if the icy conditions from the rain made them turn and then head into the woods toward Branch Brook.

This week at the BRP, the offerings are a pulled pork sandwich, which they plan to have each Wednesday, "Dump day" at the Recycling Center. Along with the sandwich offering there will be homemade baked beans, hot dogs and lots of other munchies including hot soup.

I want to wish Andrew Farrington a belated Happy 21st Birthday. It's not every day that you turn 21, and his family went up to Orono to help him celebrate. It was a good day for me also, because I got to work at the library. Thanks, Janet.

I am so pleased with the turnout for our first exercise class. In spite of the bad weather, we had 14 ladies attend. The class is held every Wednesday morning at 9 a.m. at the Town Hall. We had a great time, and I found muscles that I never knew I had, and boy did they need exercising. Hope to see you there.

We want to thank Ruby Kulp for donating the TV and Stacy Stewart for the loan of her DVD player.

On Wednesday, Feb. 13, the students of the Andover Elementary School will be holding a Jump Rope for Heart event to raise funds for the American Heart Association. Please give a donation to help the kids with their good work.

I am writing this on Saturday, Feb. 2, Ground Hog Day. I'll bet there wasn't one ground hog that found his way through our latest snow storm. I am so sick of the white stuff, and it knows how to get its revenge. Every time I shovel the walk, get it sanded, and go in the house the snow then falls off the roof and I have to go out and do it all over again. Oh well, that's the price you pay for living in Maine.

It took Joanne Palmer about three hours to get home from Bethel last night the roads were so bad. I'm grateful that I didn't have to go anywhere, driving in snow and ice scares me to death.

The recipe for the week is Tutti-Frutti Mousse. You will need 1 quart of vanilla ice cream, 1 cup of maraschino cherries, and 1 cup chopped pecans. Let the ice cream soften. Add the other ingredients and mix well. Spoon into a loaf shape mold. Freeze for at least one hour. Remove from the mold by loosening the edges with a knife and running hot water over the bottom. Place on a plate and return to the freezer. Take out 5 minutes before serving. Makes 8 servings. Hot fudge sauce poured over it sounds good to me.

The East Andover Community Club will hold its February meeting on the 11th at the Calvary Church. Valentine's Day will be celebrated.

There is a Bible Study meeting every Monday morning at Mary Bailey's. New members are welcome.

The book club meets on the first Monday of every month at 7 p.m. at the library; hope to see you there. It's a lot of fun and a relaxing way to spend an evening.

What is black and white and red all over? An embarrassed nun. See ya.

Upton

by Laurie Brown

I've seen many beautiful pictures taken by some of the local photographers, and there are innumerable "postcard" scenes and wildlife in Upton. Yet no one has submitted a photo entry for the cover of the Town Report. There are still a few days before it'll be shipped to the printers, so maybe, hopefully, the selectmen will have several from which to choose. Take entries to the Town Office or contact a selectman or Jim Recter.

The Stateline Snowmobile Club met Saturday night with 11 of its 42 members — they're inching toward their goal of 50 members. The super raffle will be drawn on Feb. 10. Members discussed a location and time to hold the ride-in cookout. Stacey Otis has undertaken the job of updating the club's website to include trail maps, the newsletter, membership applications, trail reports and changes, and pictures riders have taken while enjoying the trails. If you have photos to share, e-mail them to Stacey at: s.arbetter@verizon.net.

Coyotes crossed the trail between the time Joe and Bob went in with the groomer and the time they returned. A portion of the trail is closed on Route 26 because the logging operation there has its landing smack in the middle of the trail. Harold is working with the landowner to re-route the trail. In the meantime, riders are devising their own detour.

Ever since the Upton church was built in 1843, the work to furnish it and upkeep it has been done by volunteers, giving their time, energy and pennies. In the 1970s, Avery Angevine guided year-round residents, part-time residents, and other folks in a major overhaul which included a foundation, straightening the outside so that the doors would close once again and erecting the mill stones on the patio. The work, once again, was accomplished by donations, the church's building fund, a loan and the time and dedication of a lot of volunteers. Although the volunteers had a variety of religions and political beliefs, they came together and worked for a common goal. That's uplifting, yet it makes it even harder to understand the slipshod behavior of thieves who stole light fixtures, furniture, and other items from the church. One can only surmise the reasons the thieves had for such blatantly repulsive, vile, avaricious actions.

It'd be a miracle if they developed a conscience and an awareness of the effect their thievery has had on so many people and returned the items as stealthily as they took them. That's a heartwarming, though probably illusory, thought for the day.

The weather has been changing quite a lot these past few days. Last Friday, SAD44 was dismissed at noon and that was a good call, since the bad weather had arrived by the time the buses would have been bringing home the children. There were a lot of things that got cancelled and one was the meeting for the Oxford County Mineral and Gem Association that we had planned on attending. The next meeting will be on March 7 at OHHS in South Paris.

Steve and Lise McLain received a call this past Sunday from their son, Major Stephen McLain, III. Stephen sends e-mails quite often, but likes to call from Iraq every chance he can.

The Hanover Republican Caucus was Saturday, Feb. 2, at the home of Norm and Barbara Ferguson. Those attending selected delegates to the State Republican Convention later this year.

The Hanover Democratic Caucus will be next Sunday, Feb. 10, at 1 p.m. at Mountain Valley High School in Rumford. They will choose a Democratic nominee for president, elect state Democratic Convention delegates and select local Democratic Party leaders.

Unenrolled or unregistered voters including students that will reach the age of 18 by November 2008 can register beginning at 12:30 p.m. the day of the caucus. Anyone seeking more information about the Hanover Democratic Caucus should contact Henrietta List at 369-9604.

Christine Lego of Hanover and Joshua Lovell of Norway have a new baby girl born at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Jan. 16. The baby has been named Taejyah Vadyan Lego. Grandparents include Tonda Blossom and Randolph Lego of Hanover.

There is a new baby at Rumford Point. Adam and Stephanie Gammon have a daughter, Mariya Joanne Gammon, born Jan. 16 at Rumford Hospital. Mariya joins siblings Tanna Dawn and Adam Jerry.

A vicious winter storm attacked the area last Friday leaving about five inches of snow, sleet and freezing rain. It was a sloppy mess to clean up and more than one plow truck got stuck more than once.

We have heard reports of lots of robins along the Coastal Route 1 area where there is little or no snow.

Craig Turner, Donna and Clem Worcester, Freeman Farrington and Danny and Janice Bennett were among those in the local area who attended the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge Executive Council meeting in Brunswick last Sunday.

Greenwood City

I guess it wasn't meant to be. The Pat's did one heck of a job during the regular season and we thought they could do it all. But they just did not come out there to play!

Saturday afternoon, there was a very good turnout for the Woodstock, Greenwood, and Milton Republican Caucuses. All were pleased with the turnout and refreshing to hear new voices and ideas. Greenwood welcomed Kyle Kuvaja as a new registered voter.

After the caucus I just had to stop in at the Legion to see how the banquet for the Veterans/No Boundaries was progressing. A great crew was there helping out with all the details to make it a great meal for the Veterans and volunteers that run the program. As soon as I walked through the kitchen door I just knew I was in deep trouble with Vera. She gave me what for not being around and she has missed the hugs. We had a big hug and all was forgiven.

Thursday we went to Berlin for lunch. I don't think we had been to lunch in a long time. Guess the schedule and storms haven't helped. But we did enjoy a great lunch at the Northland. Only one disappointment, "No Fresh Strawberry Pie." What a bummer!

Friday after I had my ears lowered at Ed's, I went on to Oxford to visit a minute with the Patrys. Those are the good people of Dave's Repair. As usual all were busy and trying to catch up with work during the mild spell. Dave tells me they have sold well over a 120 snow blowers and repaired countless other machines. Snow is good for business. Also, they are taking on a new line of articulating four-wheel drive tractors. From what I have been reading the line sounds like a great machine. For Dave to take them on to the line is a testament to the line. Stop in and check out the line with Dave.

Nicole and Mercedes stopped to thank me for getting E. A. Smith Plumbing to do the repairs with her water lines. She has since done a few other things to ensure that freezing doesn't happen again. Other owners there have not listened to me and have been paying for repairs numerous times. Way to go Nicole and Mercedes!

Herbie Dunham will be guest speaker at the Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond on Thursday, Feb. 14, at 2 p.m. He will be talking about his book, "A Pebble on a Faraway Beach," memoirs of his time in Korea during the Korean War. The program is open to the public at no charge and light refreshments will be served. Please join us.

Guess I'll go down my sorrows in the shower. Been a slow week besides and a disappointing finish. But always smile and keep them wondering what you are up to.

Mason

Mona and I attended the funeral service for Doris Brown at the West Bethel

Union Church last Saturday. I have always thought of Doris as a dear friend, but I was surprised by the near unanimous tributes to this remarkable lady. She had the unique ability to make everyone feel special. For example, I don't think there was a Christmas or my birthday when I didn't receive a card from Doris over the past 49 years. Then I saw during the service that everyone who spoke had similar experiences that made them all feel special.

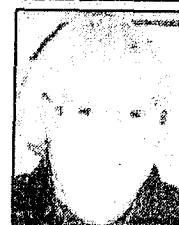

On Saturday evening, we went to the Locke Mills American Legion Post 68 to help serve dinner to the "Veterans/No Boundaries" participants in the Maine Handicapped Skiing tribute to these heroes with disabilities. This was a thoroughly enjoyable experience which gave us all a "warm, fuzzy feeling" knowing we were doing something nice for these people who have given so much to their country.

On Sunday we also had the privilege to join a group celebrating Elmer Waterhouse's 100th birthday at Ledgeview Nursing Home, West Paris. This remarkable man has an equally remarkable great-grandson, Will Estrada, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Iraq. Will sent an American flag that had flown over his unit in Iraq on Christmas Day, 2007, along with certificate of authenticity, describing Will's unit and its mission there where the flag was flown. I was lucky to be asked to present these items to Elmer with other members of our Legion post. Our presenters were Richard Littlefield, Korean War Veteran, along with Bob McCartney, Norm Clanton and myself, veterans of the Vietnam War. This celebration, described in Monday's Lewiston Sun newspaper, included five generations of Elmer Waterhouse's family.

I read recently in the Lewiston Sun that barred owls are suffering because of the deep snow in Maine this winter; many of the owls have starved to death because their favorite foods, rodents and other small animals, are hard to find in the deep snow. I was glad to see one of these proud birds perched on the limb of a maple tree next to the road near Hutchinson Brook one day last week; the owl was there when I went to the woods a lunch time, and again (or still) when I returned home just before dark. He might have been watching for one of the squirrels that raid Rosemary Stack house's birdfeeders across the road from the owl's perch.

West Paris

Lots of snow has fallen. Frank Perham plowed. Thawingsome during the days causes puddles and then icy spots which I have sanded several times. One has to be careful after dark for the sand spots are ice patches after the sun goes down. The back walk never gets sun and now is frozen solid at one foot deep making it up hill and down.

At the West Paris Universalist Church the Rev. Richard Beal's sermon topic is "The Arts and Cupcakes and Flowers and Strawberry Milk." The service is at 9 a.m. followed by a coffee hour. Jim Burke is organist. All are welcome.

Cabin Fever Countdown is being held at the Universalist Church on Thursday, Feb. 7, at 1 p.m. Note that it will not be at Bryant as formerly planned. Crafts and a puzzle and Tai Chi will be enjoyed.

Vince Stevens is doing well after surgery on his hand last week.

Sylvia McCann now has an abundance of yarn and is grateful for the many donations. But please, she does not need any more. She will provide yarn to anyone interested in helping her make mittens, hats, and scarves for the children for next winter.

Dorothy Christie is a patient at Market Square Health Care Center in South Paris for re-evaluation and would enjoy cards.

Herbie Dunham will be guest speaker at the Whitman Memorial Library on Thursday, Feb. 14, at 2 p.m. He will be talking about his book, "A Pebble on a Faraway Beach," memoirs of his service time in Korea. The program is open to the public at no charge. Light

Historical Society
The Historical Society Museum has a file box of postcards and several containers of costume jewelry. There are letters from famous people, even presidents, also photos and letters from the Bryant family, who gave the village a name. It has items on art, music, literature, religion and other cultural subjects. The museum has brought about a Renaissance of sort in the area. It embodies the best of the New England Heritage and presents the history and culture as well. You can be inspired and uplifted there.

The Historical Society meeting will be Saturday, Feb. 9, at the Town Conference Room at 7 p.m.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We hope that everyone out there has been enjoying the fairly warm weather (above freezing is warm to me in January!).

And of course the big topic was Sunday's Super Bowl game and the Giants win over the Patriots.

Dana and David got right into the spirit of the game — making up a bunch of food and then settling down to watch the Big Game.

Before the game, David asked Dana if he wanted to put a wager on the game; Dana said yes, and told David to pick his team. After he learned the Patriots had an undefeated season, he chose them, and then tried to talk Dad into upping the wager. Dana didn't fall for it, though.

David was happy throughout the game as the Pats kept the Giants from scoring big. Then, those last two minutes showed up; I had thought "Yeah, the game's done, they'll just try and waste the time," but Dana and David remained glued to the set, certain something was going to happen, and, of course, it did.

David was so disappointed when the Giants scored during those last two minutes! But, he kept cheering on the Pats, hoping they'd save the day (and their perfect undefeated season record) by gaining those few points they so desperately needed.

Then Brady was knocked down, and David knew that was it. He sulked big time during part of the post-game show!

You would have thought the little guy was the coach or player, rather than an 11-year-old boy who hadn't paid much attention during the football season.

But, it was all in fun, and everyone enjoyed themselves. And, we hope everyone out there did, too. Personally, I was more interested in catching the "Star Trek: Enterprise" marathon on Sci-Fi (although I have to admit I enjoyed the Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers half-time show, and the food Dana and David made up was quite good).

Here are a few calendar notes: Tuesday was the anniversary of the Constitution; Wednesday was Ash Wednesday, and today is the Lunar

New Year. Next Tuesday is Lincoln's Birthday and, of course, Thursday is Valentine's Day.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Jay Boschetti of Steam Mill Antiques will be present during the 34th annual Heritage Day on Saturday, Feb. 16, 1 to 4 p.m. at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center's Robinson House to provide, for a $5 donation, an opinion and some idea of value on antiques and collectibles (limited to one or two items).

Boschetti has spent many years since he was young collecting and dealing in vintage pieces and has operated his business in the Steam Mill section of Bethel for the past several years.

Other attractions during the day are five exhibits (Androscoggin River, White Mountain Souvenirs, Maine Barns, O'Neil Robinson House and Bethel) at the O'Neil Robinson House that will be available for viewing. Several craftspeople will be doing some traditional crafts. There will also be a series of historical films on local history subjects. At the Dr. Moses Mason House tours will be available with warm Indian pudding served from the hearth of the winter kitchen. The museum shop will also be open. Everyone is welcome.

With over 1,440 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over 40 years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, family reunions, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org. The society's mailing address is P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Unit 68 Auxiliary to set up this supper as part of the four days' events scheduled for the Veterans over the weekend.

Post 68 member Al Lake was instrumental in opening the facility and helping the ladies in the kitchen. Anita Hakala headed up the group of the Unit 68 kitchen crew that prepared the chicken pie supper; these hardworking ladies included Honey Bailey, Irene Redman, Doreen Wilbur, Vera Cross and Stan and Ruth Sobocinski. The Post and Unit 81 volunteers included Jeri and Jerry Greenwell, Norm and Sylvia Clanton, Nesta and Dick Littlefield and Rich and Mona Grover. These folks assisted with setup, serving, dishwashing and cleanup after dinner.

Following the meal, another group of volunteers entertained the Veterans with a casino setup with card games, a money wheel and a dice table. The Veterans were issued a stash of poker chips and enjoyed an evening of gambling. (No money involved). Some of the volunteers were inexperienced with this kind of activity and needed some coaching in how to play dice and some of the other games. The special guests had a good time at this different kind of activity.

On Sunday, Feb. 2, Mundt-Allen Post 81 members Dick Littlefield, Bob McCartney, Norm Clanton and Rich Grover had the special privilege of assisting to celebrate Elmer Waterhouse's 100th birthday at Ledgeview Nursing Home auditorium. William (Will) Estrada, Elmer's great-grandson, is stationed in Iraq and participating in Operation Iraqi Freedom. Will arranged to send an American flag, which had flown over his unit in Iraq last Christmas, home to be presented to his great-grandfather on his 100th birthday. Will's mother, Marilyn, had attended one of the 4th of July celebrations at the Moses Mason House in Bethel when Post 81 had presented the colors; she phoned Post 81 commander Grover and asked if he could arrange a similar presentation for Elmer's 100th celebration, which he was happy to do. The Legionnaires marched across the auditorium to Elmer's position by the 100th birthday cake, where they presented the "Iraq American Flag" to Elmer, along with the certificate of authenticity which describes Will's unit and the conditions under which the flag flew there.

From The Lewin Center

This week (Feb. 7-10) The Lewin Center, at the Gehring House, will host 30 Fielding Graduate University doctoral students in human and organizational development. Nancy Davis, the Center's program director, reports that this four-day seminar, their fourth annual to be held in Bethel, will focus on Systems Theories and Change in individuals, groups, organizations and communities.

The Fielding Graduate University has students across the nation supported by their central office in Santa Barbara, Calif. (www.fielding.edu). All Fielding students are mid-career students who integrate their doctoral studies with their own work in their home location.

The faculty for this seminar will be Fielding faculty members Charlie Seashore and Fred Steier, joined by Edie Seashore and Jane Jorgenson from the University of South Florida in Tampa. Bethelite Janet Willie will be a resource person for the seminar.

On Saturday students will meet with members of the Bethel community to understand more about how local citizens understand and describe Bethel as a system in the process of change.

Teams of four students will each meet with a local citizen and take a "field trip" to their own particular setting in Bethel.

Past participants have been very enthusiastic about their experience in Bethel, and this will be one of the largest groups since the inception of the program.

er, will present The Full Angel on Sunday, Feb. 10, at the West Parish Congregational Church, Garland Chapel, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Wayne DuPlessis, counselor, will facilitate the discussion after her talk. This memoir is a celebration of life, loss, love and hope.

Soups Made for Swapping
There's a new winter activity coming up. It's a "soup swap." It takes place on Friday, Feb. 29, Leap Day, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at The Lewin Center's Gehring House, 77 Broad Street, Bethel.

WMSC joins with hundreds of groups across the country in hosting a soup swap.

The idea of a soup swap started in Seattle, Wash. A group of people there who made dinner for themselves every night often made a whole vat of something to last a good part of the week. After a couple of days, it wasn't so tasty. They solved this problem by organizing friends for soup swaps. After several years, a Seattle resident inaugurated National Soup Swap Day. The word soon spread over food blogs and a critical mass of soup makers staged events all over the country last January. This year's national event was held Jan. 23, although many groups staged their events on other dates. People came to the event armed with frozen containers of soup and swapped with others for a new variety of meals to take home. There's actually a website, "soupswap.com" where people across the country have shared ideas.

Here's how it will work at the upcoming WMSC event. If you wish to participate, you may bring your favorite soup to the event. Two quarts can be brought hot in a crockpot or an insulated pot ready for tasting, and four quarts frozen in individual containers for swapping. A copy of the recipe listing all ingredients must be attached. After everyone present has a chance to taste the soups, those who brought four quarts of frozen soup can select an equal number of frozen quarts of other soups to take home.

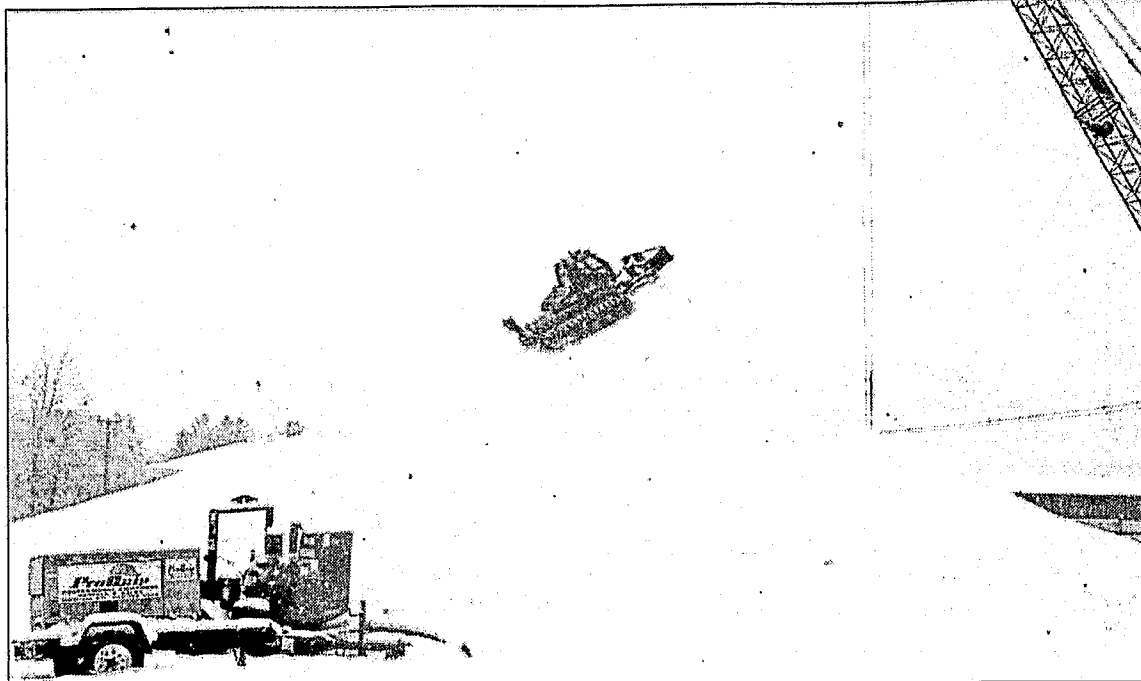

Participants may also bring extra quarts of their soup to be purchased by those who no longer cook in bulk, but who would like to attend and enjoy having soup to take home. If you'd like to participate in ways other than bringing soup, you may bring a dessert, bread or crackers for added refreshments.

Committee members planning the event need a count of persons who will be bringing soups, those who wish to bring added refreshments, or anyone who wants to attend just to enjoy the activity. Please contact one of the committee members by Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, if possible, or no later than Friday, Feb. 22 to register for the event or obtain more information. Call Marcia Foster-Austin at 824-3400, Beth Brough at 875-2216 or Rosemary McLean at 665-2926.

Admission to the event is free but you are asked to bring a non-perishable food or canned food for the local Food Pantry. All proceeds from extra soups sold will also be donated to the food pantry.

This new social event is a WMSC member-only event. However, persons who wish to join WMSC and attend may contact Jackie Cressy at 824-0508. New members would also be eligible to join upcoming WMSC spring classes that start in mid-March.

Telstar Regional High School

A $250 grant to Telstar High School's physics classes was received from the Leon P. Goldberg Physics Fund of the Philadelphia Foundation.

The fund was established in memory of Leon P. Goldberg, father of Bethel community member, Jonathan Goldberg, and professor of physics at Glasboro University in New Jersey.

The grant money has been used to purchase a wireless dynamics sensor system.

The device is a real time data collector of acceleration, force and altitude. It can be attached to a dancer's foot or a potter's wheel and motion data can be collected. It will accompany Telstar students to Fun Town this spring when they attend the annual Physics Day.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

NEGOTIATING IN THE SPIRIT OF COOPERATION
When the seller of a home receives a buyer's offer, the transaction enters the negotiations phase. Successful negotiation is an artful process because buyers and sellers don't always agree on every point of the contract. The hoped-for outcome is the satisfactory conclusion of the home sale, wherein the seller receives market value for the home and the buyer moves into a new residence in good condition. To achieve this mutual goal, all parties must approach the negotiations in a spirit of cooperation. Willingness to listen to the other party is key to the success of the negotiation. While keeping your own top priorities in mind, try to identify points that you might be willing to concede. Be flexible on some aspect of the sale that is very important to the other party—don't expect to get your way at every turn. A "give and take" attitude communicates a concern for the needs of others, develops trust and contributes to a successful transaction.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

BEFORE BUYING A HOME!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, "must have", "should have" and "would be nice to have". By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.
